I spoke with Faith today. I told her that we are waiting to hear back from the pest control company about spraying the buildings. I informed her that we have looked around the buildings inside and out and have not observed any brown recluse spiders. No other children or staff have had any bites and that we are not sure that the bite happened here at school but are doing everything we can to make sure that we take precautions and take actions to ensure that we can rule out the possibility of brown recluse spiders on campus for everyone's safety. I also confirmed with her that the teacher and parent educator would visit the home and bring educational activities for [REDACTED] to do in the home to help him stay connected academically with the parent educator making visits every two weeks.

Early Year Facilites

Jacksonville, IL 62650-1372

I just sent you a copy of the original work order for the initial inspection/estimate at the Early Years Facilities on Walnut Court. During the original visit as listed on the work order, a general inspection was completed by myself and the maintenance staff at the facility to determine what pest control needs existed. No evidence of a brown recluse spider infestation was observed. As per the bid specifications from the original estimate, insect glueboard monitoring traps were installed during the initial treatment on 11/22/17, as well as a preventive treatment for general insects and spiders. An additional follow up visit on 12/22/17 at the facility did not show any evidence of brown recluse spiders on the monitoring traps. We will continue to monitor these traps and apply preventive general pest treatments through the rest of this school year, and will notify you with the results of the inspections.

Thank you,

Thank you for the information, Craig. Can you also forward the attachment to Jamie and me for official keeping? Please continue to keep Jamie and me informed if the contractor finds any evidence of spider infestations in the future.

Jamie, this is the report from our pest control provider relative to the parent's continued inquiry into [REDACTED] spider bite. As you can see, we have investigated but found no evidence of spider infestations. We need to maintain a file of official documents and communications in case the parent initiates any legal proceedings in the future. You may also want to alert the insurance company to the parent's allegations that the bite happened at school, even though there is absolutely no evidence to support her claim.

I don't see any attachments. Craig, I am assuming you have something more than just this email.

Do we have any written documents that the parents are saying it happened at school or just verbal? Whomever talked to them, needs to write up the conversations they have had and put in the dates and any pertinent information. There will obviously be no accident report on this as we don't know that anything happened at school. But the conversations should be summarized, put in writing, and forwarded to me.

Thanks!
